

The Support System for Vitalizing Local Economy in Japan through Foreign Human Resources

The number of local governments in Japan that wish to employ foreign human resources is increasing, in order to deal with foreign residents and inbound tourists and expand overseas markets for local products.

Therefore, the Secretariat of the Headquarters for the Creation of New Regional Economies and Living Environments of the Cabinet Secretariat operates ‘the Support System for Vitalizing Local Economy in Japan through Foreign Human Resources’ and provides announcements about it on the website. The purpose of this system is to support matching between foreigners who either live in countries or regions outside Japan or reside in Japan, and wish to work for Japanese local governments or related organizations, with local governments seeking to employ such individuals.

If you are a foreign national who meets the requirements and wishes to be employed by a Japanese local government on this system, please check the job offer information posted on the website, and submit an application for your desired job directly to the local government on your own responsibility.

For inquiries on individual job offer information, please directly contact the local government that has posted the job offer.

Note: Application closes on 30th April 2025.

Depending on the situation of applications, the closing date is subject to change without notice.
